Terumo BCT and CDPHE-

EPA Region 8 has been directed to conduct outreach to stakeholders at high risk facilities to better understand risk, emissions, and community concern. Terumo BCT has been flagged from our modelling efforts as having a large cancer risk due to fugitive emissions. This meeting is to check in with Terumo BCT on the most recent effort to verify emissions data, please see the attached file for current emission estimates gathered by the EPA Office of Air Quality and Planning Standards in HQ. The Agency is conducting these efforts in order to support our latest rulemaking for National Emission Standards for Hazardous Air Pollutants (NESHAP) for Commercial Ethylene Oxide Sterilization and Fumigation Operations. The first phase of this process is to share data with stakeholders to confirm emissions numbers that inform our risk calculations.

Topics of Discussion:

- * Introductions from CDPHE, EPA Region 8, and Terumo BCT
- * Accuracy of data provided in the attachment
- * 114 Information Collection Requests
- * Questions or Concerns

Thanks,

Kyle Olson
